Come stay Shukubo!

What is a Shukubo?

Experience hospitality that only a Shukubo could offer!

"Shukubo" is a temple that offers lodging for guests. At first glance, it appears like a simple travelers' inn, or Ryokan; however, the most appealing difference is that guests can enjoy a kind of hospitality that only a Shukubo could offer, such as the experiencing Buddhism first hand and enjoying monastery vegetarian dishes. Your heart will gain solace during the special time you spend in a Shukubo.

The chanting of sutras permeates the morning silence, creating a special kind of dignified, crisp atmosphere. And then come the many delicious and handsomely-presented monastery vegetarian dishes. This is the other side of Koyasan that only travelers can come to know. Come stay in a Shukubo!

Rooms

A Ryokan-like comfortable atmosphere

All rooms are private. Each room offers the necessary amenities, such as heating/air conditioning as well as a vukata robe and towel, giving the shukubo a Ryokan-like comfort. The monks offer thorough-going hospitality and a wonderful presentation for your journey to Koyasan.

Monastery Vegetarian Cuisine The meals are splendid, vet modest. The monastery vegetarian cuisine is the treasure of Koyasan. This cuisine completel excludes the use of meat and fish. The cuisine, both delicious and splendid in appearance makes adroit use of wheat gluten and tofu to approximate meat, and gives the diner a glimpse into the skills culture and history the denizens of Koyasan. The meals also make use of in-seaso fresh wild plants
